

Meeting the needs of today, solving the problems of tomorrow in Madison County through an agenda of change

United Way of the Bluegrass is the leader and motivator of change for long-term solutions for our community. The community was brought together to determine the needs unique to Central Kentucky and consensus was reached on how to solve them, both short-term and long-term. We have committed to four focus areas to meet the needs of today and solve the problems of tomorrow:

- Basic and essential services
- Education
- Income
- Health

This change in approach has fostered a great deal of cooperation and innovation in the community. We have developed systems to evaluate the quality and success of the programs we are funding, so you can be assured your dollars will have the maximum impact on your community.

Change starts here.

Your gift to United Way supports people right here in your own backyard — helping nurture children and families, helping people meet basic needs and helping people remain healthy and independent.

Madison County is a fast-growing county with suburban and rural areas, and changing populations. People in different areas may have different needs. But most of us share the same goals: for our community, we all want a quality education for our children so that they can get a stable job, for families to be self-sufficient and for everyone in the community to be in good health.

United Way of the Bluegrass improves the lives of Madison Countians by creating opportunities for a better life for all. Our focus is on education, income and health — the building blocks for a good quality of life — while also supporting critical and essential services in the community. United Way recruits people and organizations who bring the passion, expertise and resources needed to get things done.
